Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 and 17-20 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over uMember.com (a collection of prior art cited in PTO-892, Items: U-X and WW).

uMember.com teaches a one-stop shopping web site that offers its members deep discounts on brand name items. UMember.com further teaches:

- obtaining a marketing agreement between a company and a vendor of discounted products and/or services; uMember.com continues to pursue agreements with suppliers/manufacturers; agreements cut out middlemen allowing uMember.com to pass along the savings by eliminating a portion of the distributor cost (U: see at least page 2; V: see at least title, pages 1 and 2).

- marketing said discounted products and/or services by the Internet, direct mailing, and/or newspaper to homeowners/customers; markets products by virtue of displaying products via its web site;
- purchasing one or more of said discounted products and/or services via the Internet and/or telephone; members purchase products via the uMember.com web site (U: see pages 1 and 2); uMember.com sells computers and software, consumer electronics, gifts, jewelry and watches, apparel and accessories, golf and sporting goods, flowers, automotive products, garden supply, home improvement items, supermarket and household items and lodging; future categories are expected to include books, music and movies, pharmaceuticals and insurance services (U: see page 2).
- Customer can advertise; uMember.com provides online classifieds and bulletin board services (U: see page 2). One of ordinary skill in the art at time of the invention would ascertain the use of online classifieds and bulletin board services as a place for the customer to advertise.
- Delivery by vendor; uMember.com's direct dealership agreement means cutting out the middleman-allowing uMember.com to pass along significant savings to its members; directly drop-shipped to customer (V: see pages 1 and 2; WW: page 2).

3. Claims 5-16 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over uMember.com (a collection of prior art cited in PTO-892, Items: U-X and WW) in view of PR Newswire (PTO-892, Item: UU).

UMember.com teaches all the above as noted under the 103(a) rejection and teaches a) marketing and selling home improvement products, b) selecting a vendor (X: see page 1, Epson), c) selecting the type of discount (X: see page 1 direct discount), and d) marketing services (i.e. insurance), but does not disclose the member selecting a rating of the vendor. PR Newswire teaches the availability of 1.2 million repair professionals via Product Assist, a comprehensive online customer care solution for retailers, manufacturers, and Internet portals. The database provides consumers with a selection of service professional in the area qualified to perform their product repair or home improvement need. PR Newswire further teaches consumers viewing basic information about each provider, and seeing how other consumers rated a service provider by the overall consumer rating score, and learn whether the service provider is authorized by a manufacturer to perform repairs and purchase parts (UU: see at least pages 1 and 2). One of ordinary skill in the art would ascertain the applicability of the rating system to products. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time of the invention to modify uMember.com to provide a customer rating system for products and services as taught by PR Newswire and as ascertained by one of ordinary skill in the art, in order for a consumer to view how other consumers rated products and services.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Lowes.com; Internet Archive Wayback Machine, www.archive.org; www.lowes.com, October-December 2002; February 2003, 12pgs; teaches consumers registering with online supplier of residential products.
